

Casas de Cuidado Diario
- Mientras tú trabajas -

Who are we?

For 23 years Casas de Cuidado Diario Infantiles A.C. (Daily Care Homes) has been an alternative model of care, attention and protection of small children of working mothers who do not have an adequate place to leave their children during work hours.

Beneficiaries

- More than 15,000 children have completed the program.
- The approximate cost per child is $5602.00 Mexican Pesos per year
- The program serves 88 neighborhoods in 6 municipalities.

To achieve this, there is a strong team effort that includes:

- Operative personnel (21)
- Program Volunteers (94)
- Care Mothers* (124)

Total of 239 persons involved

*CareMother: is a mother who wishes to contribute to her family income and the development of the community by caring children of other working women in her own home, providing them not only care for their basic needs but addressing their affective formation of values and needs.

What distinguishes us?

- Care for boys and girls: Offering attention, protection and care to minors.
- Integral formation: Promoting in them the development of their emotional, social and intellectual abilities.
- Nutrition: Looking to improve and monitor the nutrition of our beneficiaries by offering balanced menus and constant supervision of their size and weight.
- Constant training: To professionalize services offered by operative personnel, program volunteers, Care Mothers and Board members to improve the attention given to our children.
- Complementary Programs: Such as Computer Science, Music and English.
- Self-employment: Offering the Care Mother the opportunity of self-employment within her own home without attending her children.
- Strengthening of social ambiance: Through values such as interaction and participation that offer major economical, nutritional and physical security.
- Transportation: School-aged children are transported to their educational centers by the Care Mother.

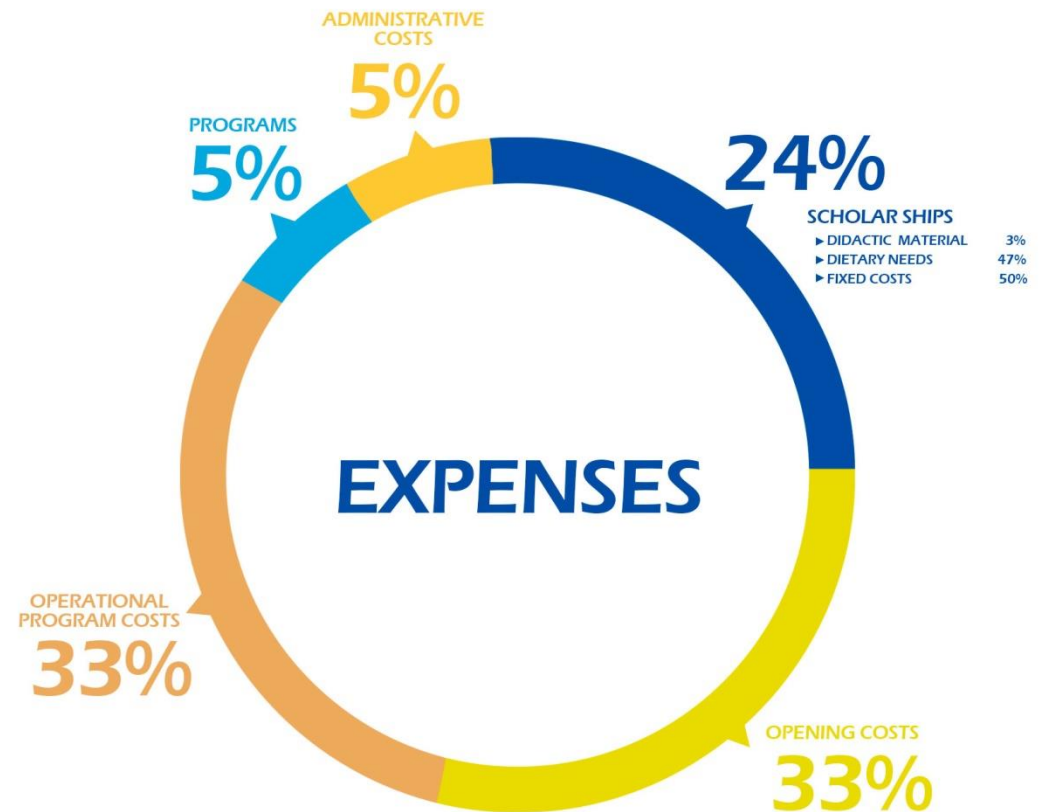

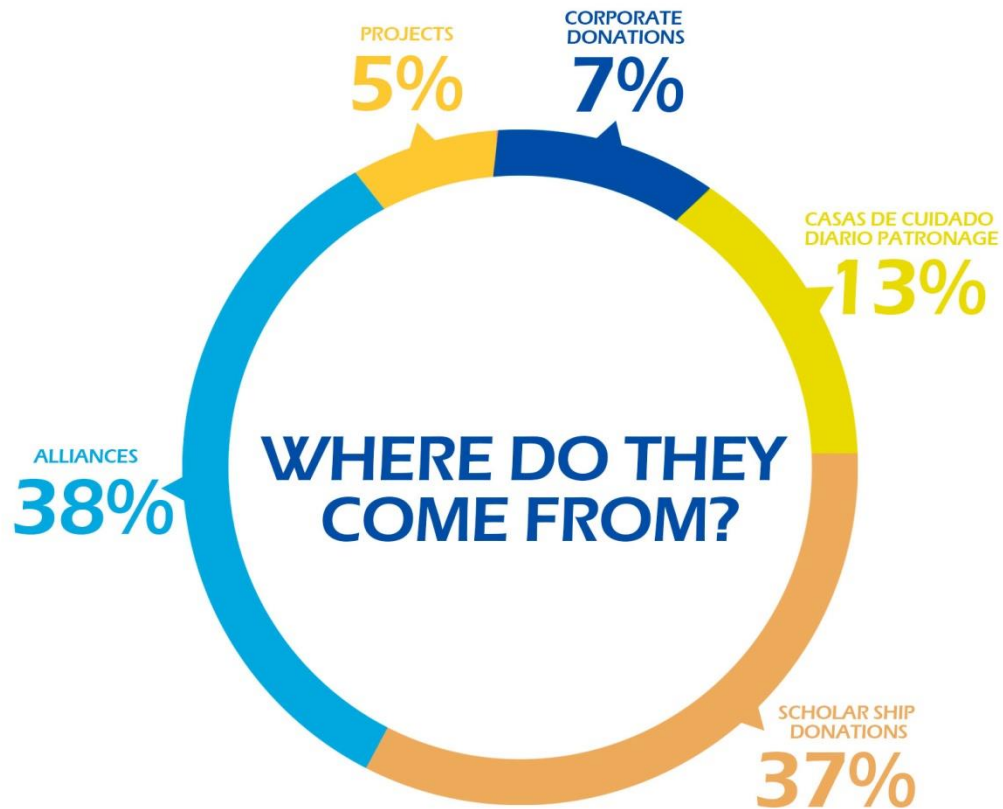

We recognize the importance of love in prevention

The most important stage in the development of every person occurs in the first six years of life and it also coincides with their most vulnerable stage.

A child needs to experiment a loving relationship. Love humanizes and acts as an anti-body against the difficulties of life, protecting and defending the child from the dangers of the environment in which he/she is growing.

The emotional relationship that is established from the first day that the children encounters the Care Mother is of vital importance in his development. The experiences and interaction in Casas de Cuidado Diario will be extremely important in his/hers adulthood because the security, protection and the love received on a daily basis are strong factors that will determine the kind of individual he/she will become.
